Hi Alex,

Thanks for the response, I think that you're bang on with identifying the house in the drawing, this was most likely what happened. I will post the card on our info board to make others aware of what you're doing, personally I think it's an awesome initiative and you should be commended for it.

I hope you have a great day, if at all possible send some of your weather our way, it's -29 here today! J
